

Personality changed for the better

Some experiences make us more courageous

Change because of yourself not because of someone else

Maybe he's more confident because of making friends for example a car accident ↳ makes you fearful

To what extent has Adam's experience shaped his personality?
In how far is that happening to all of us?

will be self-confident and not change for other people that don't like thinking like they are

Because that he lost his friends he made to find going to make new friends or to make it up to his ex-friends and get them back

Yes, all his changes had a big impact on his personality, not only negative but also positive, now he doesn't trust somebody so fast...
That's something which is very common also nowadays, when you're in love with somebody, you have a special bond and ~~trust~~ ^{trust} with this person and you're very open and trust this person and often it can happen that the person doesn't share these feelings and will hurt you by not return feelings, sometimes the person who hurts you knows about it (like Evelyn) and sometimes he or she